

CompuSystems Adds AAIW and InfoComm Shows to Growing List of Clients

Broadview, IL – January 2009 – CompuSystems, Inc. is pleased to announce its newest relationships with Automotive Aftermarket Industry Week (AAIW) and InfoComm International. With the inclusion of their prestigious shows, CompuSystems now services 25 out of 100 of the largest trade shows in the industry, more than any other registration provider.

AAIW features the annual SEMA and AAPEX shows. SEMA (Specialty Equipment Market Association) represents the fastest growing segment of the specialty automotive aftermarket industry, while AAPEX (Automotive Aftermarket Products Expo) represents the do-it-yourself retail aftermarket and the “professionally installed” aftermarket.

InfoComm International is the leading non-profit association serving the professional AV communications industry worldwide, and is the founder of infoComm, the largest annual conference and exhibition for AV buyers and sellers worldwide. The exhibition is the leading business-to-business marketplace for display, projection, audio, conferencing, lighting and staging, digital signage, Internet streaming and networked presentation and communications systems.

According to Tradeshow Week magazine, AAPEX, infoComm and SEMA each rank among the top 50 of its 2008 Tradeshow Week 200 industry listing.

CompuSystems, Inc. is a full-service registration provider for the exposition industry, offering a broad range of services for show organizers, exhibitors and attendees. CompuSystems’ mission is to help its customers achieve their best possible trade show experience by providing innovative technology, products and services, backed by the most experienced professionals in the industry.
